

Michael Casper (Casper) is the Chief Operation Officer and Co-Founder of Improve Your Tomorrow (IYT). Casper grew up in Sacramento, California and recognized at a young age that his purpose in life was to make a difference in his community. As a low income, first generation student Mr. Casper felt firsthand what the achievement gap consisted of, so in 2013 he co-founded IYT with the intent to help students in his community become young scholars. Casper previously worked in the finance industry as an Assistant Vice President-Branch Manager for US Bank. In that role, he was responsible for managing and anticipating the needs of the branch, including driving sales, stellar customer service, and complying with regulation and policy requirements. Casper received his bachelor's degree in Organizational Communication from California State University, Sacramento. He enjoys traveling, playing sports and spending time with his loved ones. Casper is married to his high school sweetheart Elsa Casper and they have three young daughters.
